Week 6

What do I want to learn or understand better?

A:
This week I´ve gotten into the coding of the project and therefore I´ve gotten a basic understanding of the tool we are using to create our database, firebase. We also touched upon what KPI:s to use and how these are going to be implemented.

B:
For the upcoming week I´d like to learn more about KPI:s and how these will be implemented into the workflow of sprints. I´d also like to get a better understanding of firebase since during this sprint since I´ve felt that during this sprint when a firebase related error occurs I have a hard time finding what causes the problem and therefore a hard time fixing it.

A→B:
We´ve already started to discuss KPI:s during our last meeting but I will also try and look up some real world examples of KPI:s and how they are used in these projects. Regarding firebase I will try and read up on it more by looking at articles and explanatory videos. I will also continue to ask the persons in the group that already seem to have a good grip of firebase and through them try and learn more.

How can I help someone, or entire team, to learn something new?
I´ve tried to be active on social media so that I can help or consult other members of the group, this has led to me having various conversations with Max and Albin on discord were we have discussed tasks, pull requests or bigger project related questions. These conversations have been initiated by all three mentioned and has led me to feel like if I need help or if someone needs mine there is no hesitation within the group to seek this out. This by itself creates stability within the group making sure that the members can rely on each other.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of scrum?
I´ve used the trello board in accordance with how we planned in order to achieve an effective and clear workflow for all members. This means keeping the board organized and making sure that my tasks are in the right columns so that it is clear to my group members what state the tasks are in.

What is my contributions the team's deliveries?

For this week I´ve completed tasks on trello including being able to join trips, sorting the trips be date and code clean up in various ways. The week before Easter I was unable to join in on the tutor meeting but I participated in this weeks meeting regarding the team reflection.
